

Cornice Nr. 100 “Cambridge”

(Victorian in Style)

This cornice design, with it's central cove section being obviously Victorian in section is nevertheless quite modern in proportion.

The relatively small cross sectional dimensions make it entirely suitable for a modern home or property, including any with a fairly low ceiling height.

As with most of our very numerous cornice patterns, this one can be curved on plan. This process does incur an additional cost for the necessary special mould making but does look enormously stylish when fitted.

Please also refer to the cross section on page two of this document, dimensions approximate.
