

Cornice Nr. 124 “Batley”
(Victorian in Style)

Our newest addition to the range, this is yet another good, large plain cornice design.

This design really must be used in large rooms, particularly areas with high ceilings.

This is another design that is truly Victorian, I would guess this one dates from 1890, being the approximate construction date of Batley library, the building this mould was made for in July 2007 .

A full size cross sectional profile is on page two of This very document. Please also consult this item.

Projection 220mm. (c.8.5”)
Depth 145mm. (c.6”)
Length of Cast 3350mm. (10’11”)
Plain Run Section

Nr. 124 "Batley"

Projection 220mm

Depth 145mm

Actual sample of this cornice will soon be available for inspection at our works/showroom at Owl Lane, Dewsbury.

When reproduced at A4 page size this section should be full size, not exact, but still a decent representation.