

Cornice Nr. 113 “Grosvenor”

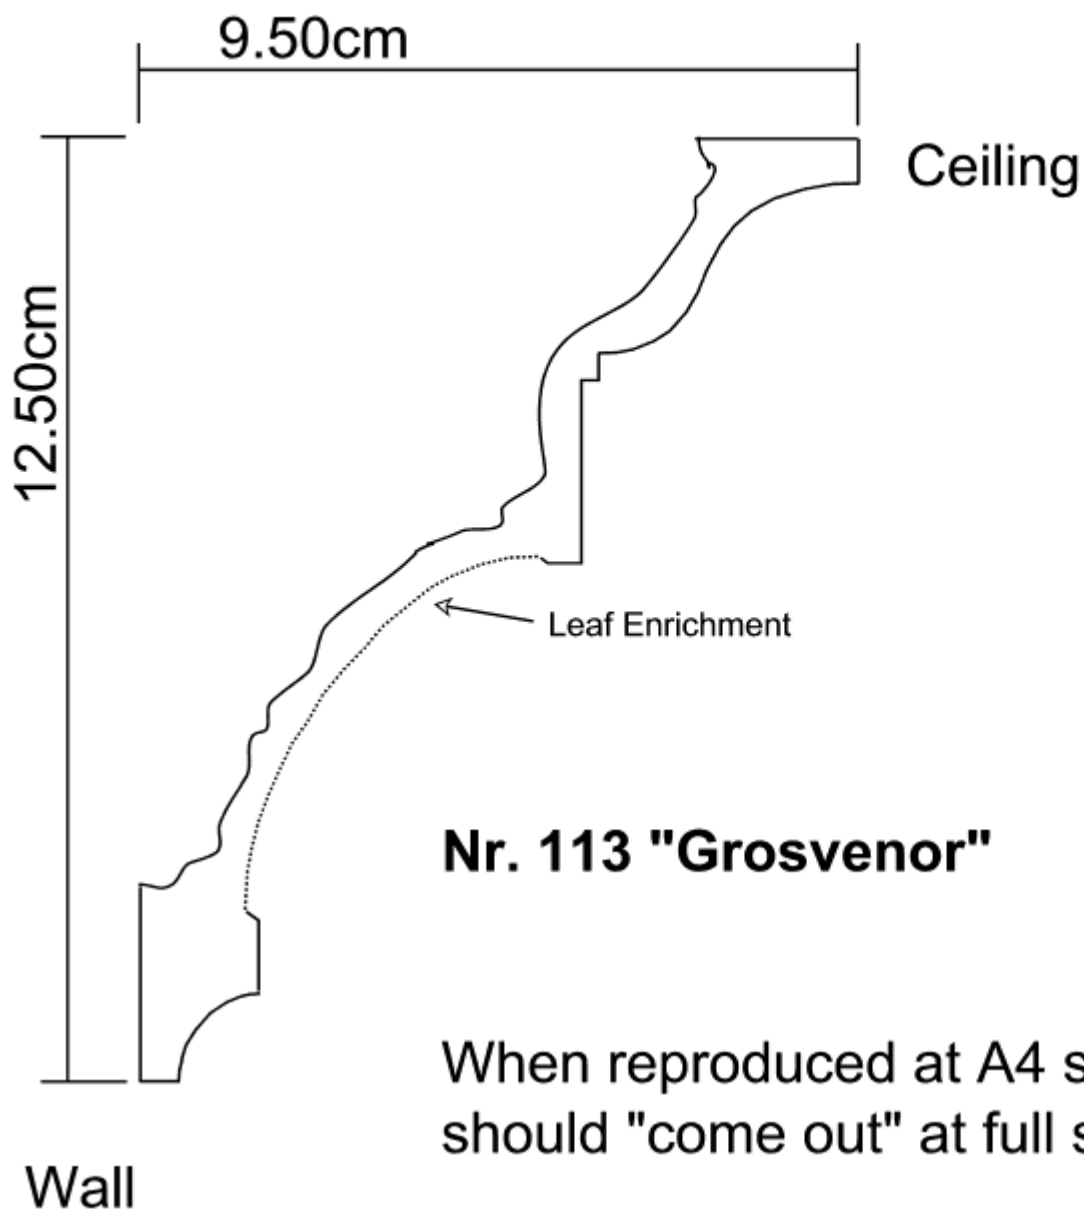

A fairly new cornice design, a clean nice leaf cornice that is actually quite sharp. The leaf enrichment is also fairly undercut, this emphasises this crisp design.

This is another “average sized” cornice pattern, one that is not from any particular historical period. This design can be installed into modern or older properties and look quite good, very good indeed.

Again, there is a full size cross sectional sketch on page two of this document, please refer to this and a small bay of this actual cornice installed at our Dewsbury showroom.

N.B. This is temporarily out of production, please enquire actual availability “on the day”.

Projection 95mm. (c.4”)
Depth 125mm. (c.5”)
Length of Cast 3125mm. (10’3”)
Leaf Enriched Profile

Nr. 113 "Grosvenor"

When reproduced at A4 size this should "come out" at full size.

However, please do note that this is only a free hand sketch - the intention is just to give an impression of the cornice proportions.

For an absolute impression of the cornice please look at the installed bay of this pattern at our works.
